Professional experience

- I am responsible for PwC's Swiss HR Services practice.
- I spent 6 years at our Paris office and 2 years leading our HR practice in Moscow before taking on my current role.
- In particular, I support Swiss multinational corporations with global mobility issues.

Personal questions

What was your dream job as a child?

As an expatriate kid, I obviously wanted to fly passenger jets!

What do you like about your job?

Learning from people – our clients and our own consultants – and creating something new together.

What fascinates you about HR?

HR is about relationships, but is also highly technical. It is strategic, but judged on delivery. And HR is influenced by global demographic trends. Finding talent is the most challenging aspect of business today.

Qualifications

Law degree from the universities of London and Paris and qualification as an attorney in France
