PwC's Connected Efficiency Studio

You have new cloud solution in place (e.g. Microsoft's M365) and you've invested a significant amount of money in it, trusting you will receive all the benefits the cloud should bring with it. Did you reach your full potential yet? Are all the promised benefits there?

Now that the cloud is available, it's just waiting for your people to fully harness its power, so you, as a business, can benefit from it. To help you do exactly that, we've created the Connected Efficiency Studio.

Ready to unlock your Digital Benefits? Talk to us!

The Connected Efficiency Studio is a platform where we combine the knowledge of our experts with our proprietary and exclusive learning content and bring it to your people.

Your people can learn in a low time-investment manner, whenever they need it, without limitations. This enables and inspires your people to take their skills of daily cloud applications to the next level – and to continue doing so.

Functional learning – content created on use-cases to help improve daily working and tool usage.

Adoption catalyst – our content and experts help you leverage the platform for further adoption.

24/7 access – a self-learning platform that is available 24/7 to your people.

Bite-sized content – all content can be consumed quickly and on-the-go to maximise engagement and return on 'time investment.'

Relevant content – content that is constantly curated, updated, and renewed.

Expert guidance – our experts guide you and your team at all times.
